

MAJOR GENERAL C. A. WILLOUGHBY

Dec 20/ 51

My Dear Ted

I have your letter of Dec 18th. I am sure that I wrote you regarding my plans, then influx, though it may be that I mentioned it in one of my intermittent letters to your colleague Dulles, expecting to pass it on?

Anyway, I could not leave in November. I had commitments to the "Cosmopolitan" to "Readers Digest" and E.P. Dutton. What with editing manuscripts etc., I could not leave then. As it is, I may go on January 9th, on a Mediterranean cruise, as initially planned.

[Redacted] In the meantime, you can always count on my friendly interest, at any time.

I expect to remain abroad for some time - shall we say, at least until November 1952.

With kind personal regards to you and your wife and very best wishes for the Holidays

Fraternally

WILLOUGHBY STUDY ASKED

Inquiry Asked on His Charge Newsmen Slanted Stories

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3 (UP) — Representative Samuel W. Yorty, Democrat of California, said tonight that Maj. Gen. Charles Willoughby should be questioned about his charges against American reporters in any reopening of the MacArthur hearings.

General Willoughby, General of the Army Douglas MacArthur's aide and former intelligence chief, accused several correspondents in a magazine article last week of slanted reporting of the Korean war, a charge which the newsmen indignantly denied.

Mr. Yorty's request was sent to Richard B. Russell, Democrat of Georgia, chairman of the Joint Senate Committee which held hearings on General MacArthur's dismissal.
